Question 4a

We use recursive call to solve this problem:

1. The stop condition is when $n = 0$.
2. Recursive Case:

Use a variable to store the previous number selected. Run a loop from n down to the stored variable's value to get each number in the partition, then push it into a linked list. This way, each partition generated will be in decreasing order, preventing duplicates.